MIDDLEBURG.

Miss Essie Haney has about recovered from measles. A little daughter of John Duncan has the disease.

A 10-year-old son of Allen Hogue died at Yosemite of brain fever and was buried at Green River church.

An attack of rheumatism, scarcity of news, close attention to business and fear of catching the measles are a few excuses we wish to offer for failing to write for the last two weeks.

The burning and sewing of tobacco beds has been the order of the day in this section for the last week or more. The crop in this county will likely be the largest ever grown in the county.

The putting up of the wire for the Big Four line was completed last week and the Farmers' line will reach here in a few days. Then if we are not in communication with the world generally it will not be for the want of telephone lines.

Frank Wilhite, colored, hooked 38 yellow suckers in the creek near Yosemite one day last week. Frank is an expert at hooking and when he finds one of the finny tribe, either winter or summer, he "fixes his clock" right then and there.

Q. R. Jones, who made a trip to Frankfort last week, speaks in the highest terms of Lincoln's representative in the Legislature. Quince says if Casey should be put into the Eighth Congressional district that he would be for Shanks for Congress.

There was considerable stir here some days ago when it was rumored that an attempt was being made to remove the county High School from here to Liberty. But the whole thing turned out to be a fake. Supt. Lay denies having thought of interfering with the school, but Q. R. Jones thought there was enough in it to go to Frankfort and investigate.

Six town lots were sold by R. B. Young here Saturday. The prices were very satisfactory, running from $150 to $600. John Henry Thomas, of the Casey County News, was the auctioneer and did his part well. Mr. Young has several lots left and we are glad to know that he will make good money out of his late purchases.

Barney Williams came home from Cincinnati to attend the funeral of his father. Mrs. Helen Carter remains quite sick. Dr. T. H. Singleton, of McKinney, was called to Yosemite Saturday to see Mrs. Carter. Welby Hanesford was here Saturday to visit his parents. W. H. McClure, of Mt. Olive, attended the town lot sale here Saturday and bought the Wesley property across the street from the Methodist church. Mrs. Delia Wesley went to Liberty to see Dr. I. S. Wesley, who is ill with pneumonia. Little John Murphy returned to McKinney Saturday after spending two weeks with his sister, Mrs. McD. Fogle.

Last week the Stanford INTERIOR JOURNAL was sold. We look with a great deal of personal interest upon the passing of that able newspaper from the Walton family. In all the 38 years of its service to humanity the INTERIOR JOURNAL has been owned by but two families—its founder and first editor, Mr. F. J. Campbell (late editor of the Somerset Journal), and the Messrs. W. P. and E. C. Walton. By prudent sagacity, thoughtful foresight, wonderful wisdom and unceasing zeal the INTERIOR JOURNAL has become luminous as a newspaper success and an institution, amassing wealth beyond the dreams of avarice.

It is comforting to know that so able a newspaper man as Mr. Shelton Sauley has purchased the INTERIOR JOURNAL, which is synonymous to saying the paper will continue superexcellent. We hope with all our heart that Editor E. C. Walton will not retire from the journalistic field. Such a contingency would mean a State calamity.—Somerset Journal.

The Daughters of the Confederacy, combined with the efforts of the Confederate Veterans, have raised funds with which an imposing monument has been purchased to be erected to the memory of the many Confederate soldiers who were killed at the battle of Perryville and buried in Danville.

Four petitions, one for each ward, are being circulated by the whisky people asking for an election on that question. Some few, it seems, do not understand the petition and might sign it under the misapprehension that the local option people have a hand in these petitions. As stated above, they are being circulated and signed by those who want the saloon, with all its accompanying horrors, restored to our now growing, prosperous and morally improved city. The temperance people are not asking for a vote, for the reason that they already have what they want. If you are a "dry" shy around these petitions like you would a man affected with the smallpox. As soon as these petitions are filed we understand that the temperance people will publish the names attached to them. This will show who's who.—Harrodsburg Herald.

Formal announcement of the engagement of Miss Eleanor Robson, the actress, to August Belmont, financier and millionaire turfman, has been made. The engagement had been reported on a number of occasions, but always denied.

The Best Hour of Life.

Is when you do some great deed or discover some wonderful fact. This hour came to J. R. Pitt, Rocky Mt., N. C., when he was suffering intensely, he says, "from the worst cold I ever had. I then proved to my great satisfaction what a wonderful Cold and Cough cure Dr. King's New Discovery is. For, after taking one bottle I was entirely cured. You can't say anything too good of a medicine like that." Its the surest and best remedy for diseased lungs, Hemorrhages, LaGrippe, Asthma, Hay Fever or any throat or lung trouble. 50c., $1. Trial bottle free. Guaranteed by Penny's Drug Store.

To George W. Doneghy.
(By S. M. Boone.)

One day while out on Dix River
I chanced to spy Geo. Doneghy,
When there and then I did discover
Him taking something on the sly.

I said to George with mild intent:
"I'm feeling just a little dry."
And he always on mischief bent
Said "Nixie, not of my old rye."

I thought it was a little tough
That he should treat me so,
Until he said, "You've had enough,
So take your pole and go."

This happened on the river Dix,
On whose lovely, shady, brink
Famishing mortals used to mix
Their grog and take a quiet drink.

Dear River Dix and Hanging Fork
Two sunny streams where bass would bite,
And fishermen with line and cork
Spent many a day and happy night.

A sad good-bye ye placid streams,
The fisher's head's turned gray.
We must dismiss you from our dreams
As we wind up and stroll away.

SHELTON M. SAUFLEY,
OWNER.

HON. HARVEY HELM,

of Lincoln county, is a candidate for re-nomination for Congress from the Eighth district, subject to the action of the democratic party.

Frankfort News by The New Editor.

FRANKFORT, FEB. 14.—Interest in the County Unit bill warmed up considerably last week when the State convention of the Kentucky Anti-Saloon League held a three days' session at the capital. Everything went along quietly enough until Senator J. J. Watkins, of Union county, an enthusiastic option man, stated in a speech before the convention that he had heard strong rumors that $20,000 had been paid for four votes in the Senate to bury the County Unit bill. The Senate immediately got busy and an investigating committee was appointed to see if any of the members had sold out. Gov. Cox named a reliable committee and it went to work at once, behind closed doors. Few believe that the investigation will develop anything tangible in the shape of evidence of bribery. If men were bought they are not going to tell it; and the men who paid the money are not going to tell it, so there you are. The old Scotch verdict of "guilty but not proven" will undoubtedly obtain in the minds of many who have watched the proceedings. The liquor forces have their lobby here and they have never been known to lack for money, nor to be sparing in the spending of it when they wanted something done. They have apparently accomplished what they wanted. The people can make their own verdict.

MECCA FOR VISITORS.

Frankfort is the Mecca for visitors from all parts of the State during the Legislative session, and the influx this time is larger than ever before, as so many wish to see the new capitol. Everyone is greatly pleased with it. It is truly a credit to Kentucky and to the democratic administration which made possible the construction of such a handsome edifice. It was built without graft by the democrats and has been completed without graft by the republicans. Clarence Tate was over from Stanford to see the capitol and watch the Legislature. John Owsley Reid and Bledsoe Bailey drove over in the former's motor car and took in the sights. While refilling his gasoline tank the fuel managed to catch fire in some way and Mr. Reid had one of his hands badly burned. He was able to proceed home, however.

STANFORD BOYS MAKE GOOD.

Two old Lincoln county boys are now stationed at Frankfort and are making good. They are Joe Lynn Coffey and Everett Stone. The former is a guard at the penitentiary, along with Capt. Bob Gentry, also from Lincoln. Capt. Coffey has been here but a few months and has made good in fine fashion. He is already regarded as one of the most capable men on Warden Mudd's staff; cool-headed, fearless, yet courteous and with a capacity to handle the men he is over with the least friction. Captain Gentry, who has been here for several years, is one of the most experienced men on the penitentiary staff and highly regarded by the officials. Everett Stone is on the night shift of linotype operators at the office of the Frankfort News' big printing plant. He is one of the best in the business and draws big money. Everett has been working in Louisville for several years and doing well. There is almost nothing about a printing plant that he does not know, and he is so proficient that he commands the highest pay.

A POPULAR STATE OFFICIAL.

Few visitors to the capitol pass by the office of the Court of Appeals without stopping in for a pleasant call with Napier Adams, the clever clerk. Mr. Adams hails from the good county of Pulaski, and though he has been here less than three years, he probably has just as many friends here in proportion to his stay, as he has back home. Before being elevated to this position, Mr. Adams was circuit clerk of Pulaski, and he acquired a training there which has made him one of the most efficient clerks the State has ever had. He always has a pleasant word for everyone and a hearty greeting for friends from over the State. Quiet, almost reserved in demeanor, he knows how to make friends, and is regarded as a tower of strength by the republicans in his section. In fact, it is whispered here that Mr. Adams is one of the main spokes in the all-powerful "machine" in Pulaski. He vigorously resents any such suggestion, however, modestly declaring that he is no more than an humble follower in the ranks of the "organization." Strong as he is, however, Mr. Adams declares that he is now through with politics, and will be a candidate for nothing more when his term here is concluded. Knowing his strength in the Eleventh district, some of the party leaders here are endeavoring to get him to make another State race in 1911, but he says he will have none of it, and is willing to let some one else have a chance. Clerk Adams is given material assistance in the conduct of his office by his attractive sister, Miss Della Adams, also of Somerset, and by other capable deputies.

THE CONGRESSIONAL RACE.

Much interest is being manifested by democrats here in the alignment in the Eighth district for the coming Congressional nomination. No one doubts that Congressman Helm will be in the running again right from the jump, but from indications here it seems probable that he is not going to have a walk-over this time. Former Representative Jere Sullivan, of Madison, and William Jennings Price, of Boyle, have both been here recently, and while not positively, have practically notified their friends that they are going to be in the running also. Mr. Sullivan is undoubtedly one of the biggest men in the State in every sense, and will have a strong following. Mr. Price's eloquence has been heard all over the district and he has a great many friends who want to see him go to Congress. A race between these three would prove a good one. Nothing has been done about the method or time of selecting the democratic nominee. It is whispered here that the opposition to Congressman Helm has the committee. If that be true, it looks from this distance like a convention, probably late in the summer. But there's no telling yet what may be done.

TAXES GOING UP.

The State Board of Equalization convened here last week and if it carries out the recommendations of Gov. Wilson, taxes on the farmers of the State are going to be boosted considerably. The attention of the board has been called to the fact that much very fine farming land is being assessed year in and year out at a figure far below its real value. The republicans need money very badly to carry on the affairs of State and pull the treasury out of debt, and this is going to be one of the means that they will employ to raise it. The immense production of tobacco and the high prices demanded for good tobacco land is going to be one of the excuses for piling the burden heavier on the farmer. Any excuse will do as well, however. It's simply the case of the administration facing the next State campaign with a big deficit in the treasury staring it in the face, and determined to do something to pull out of the hole. Meanwhile the big corporations are going to get by, as usual, without paying anything like their fair share of the taxation burdens; and it is not believed that the republican State Board of Valuation and Assessment will have the nerve to place the tax on whisky any higher. The board did make a tentative raise last year to $10 a barrel, but the big distillers got busy and the figure was put back to $9. The extra dollar would mean a lot to the treasury, when the immense output of booze in Kentucky is considered. It will be the farmer, however, who will have to pay the fiddler, and not the distiller, when the raise in taxes is made to pay the State out of debt. S. M. S.

THE speech of Senator Heyburn, of Idaho, opposing the leasing of some government tents for the Confederate reunion, was the most disgusting exhibition of malice and evil prepense we have ever read. This fellow, who acknowledged he did not go to war, fought the Lost Cause over again and said things of Lee and of his soldiers that none but a craven would. Heyburn is a disgrace to his kind and to the State that honors such a creature. Fortunately the Senators did not take him seriously, but voted solidly to let the veterans have the tents. Heyburn alone voting in the negative. It was a fitting and a stinging rebuke.

TWENTY-EIGHT counties in Kansas have no poor farm tenants, 21 no convicts in the penitentiary, 36 no prisoners in the reformatory and 52 with no prisoner serving sentence in jail. This is a statement sent broadcast by the Kansas Society in Chicago and speaks well for a "dry" State.

SINCE Mayor Gaynor, of New York city, took charge of that city's affairs 523 useless offices have been abolished, saving the taxpayers $623,000 a year. If the good work continues the great city may be able to some day decrease her bonded indebtedness.

CHIEF OF POLICE STEWARD, of Chicago, announces that in order to prevent confidential information from "leaking out" he will employ a woman stenographer. Who ever heard of a woman keeping a secret?

POLITICAL.

The diplomatic and consular bill, carrying appropriations aggregating more than $3,700,000, was passed by the National House.

News comes from New York that Theodore Roosevelt, Jr., will make the race for Representative from either Oyster Bay or a city district.

In his speech at the Lincoln day banquet, Gov. Hughes, of New York, predicted that President Taft would be nominated and elected president for a second term.

The Bennett white slave bill regulating the traffic in immoral alien women was passed by the United States Senate practically in the same form as passed by the House.

The bill abolishing the city attorney's office at Louisville and creating in its place the office of corporation counsel passed the Kentucky House of Representatives by a vote of 61 to 16.

A bill making Commander Robert E. Peary, U. S. N., discoverer of the North Pole, a rear admiral, was passed by the Senate. Indications are that the measure will receive the approval of the House.

The Senate committee on Banks and Banking has decided to report favorably the bill introduced by Senator B. M. Arnett for the issue of bonds to the extent of $500,000. It is said the bill will strike a snag in the House, where most of the members favor interest-bearing warrents.

At Whistler, Ala., five miles north of Mobile, Katie Walters, aged 14, was assaulted by an unknown Negro, who, after committing the crime, beat her head cruelly.

Revenge is now believed to be the motive for the murder of Charles Wiltshire, the wealthy glove manufacturer, who was found dead in his factory in Chicago with 37 stiletto wounds in his body.

A Chance For Homeseekers.

YUMA, ARIZ., FEB. 9th.—Will you please mention in your paper that on March 1st the government will open for settlement nearly 7,000 acres of Yuma Indian reservation, under the Yuma project. This is offered in 40-acre tracts to homesteaders.

The Southern Pacific R. R. runs through the land and it is within a few miles of the city of Yuma.

Also on May 18, in the Palo Verde Valley, 100,000 acres in 160-acre tracts will be opened to homesteaders.

This land is in California and on the Colorado river; abundance of water for irrigation; longest growing season in the United States; healthy climate.

These are unusual opportunities for securing a home, and I want some Kentucky people for neighbors. Write the land office at Los Angeles for further information. W. B. CLOYD.

IT now looks as if there will not be a petition filed for a whisky election. The threat of the Sun to publish the names of the petitioners is having a most splendid effect. FRIENDS of George S. Wilson, Speaker of the House, are pulling hard for the bill creating the county of Wilson of parts of Pulaski, Wayne and Whitley counties. The proposed new county is to be named for Speaker Wilson, which gives the measure considerable prestige with members of the present General Assembly. The Legislators want the new county, but the people do not. As the former now have their inning, the chances are they will get what they want.

THE Frankfort correspondent of the Louisville Times says: "Senator Took Hubble, of Lincoln county, is the owner of the race horse, T. M. Greene, which has finished first past the post several times at Jacksonville recently. The hefty Senator keeps in close touch with the 'dope' on his horse and always manages to have something 'down' when his racer shows his heels to the rest of his company. When a telegram from the Florida track came to Senator Hubble in the Senate chamber apprising him of the fact that his horse had won out, several of his friends remarked that it was 'pretty fat' for him to have a horse bringing him the coin, while they had a hard time collecting from the State for their services as solons."

HUSTONVILLE.

When a man gets so penurious that he goes beyond the bounds of business courtesy to get a few pennies, do you think he is entitled to any leniency? Answer through these columns please.

Mr. Tom Murphy, who lives on the Big South Fork, below Powers' Store, is seriously ill with liver trouble. He is well known and has many friends here, who hope for his early recovery. Miss Ella Barnett left Sunday for St. Louis, where she has accepted a position with a large wholesale establishment. Mrs. Lora Bohon Jeffers returned Sunday from a protracted visit to Louisville friends and relatives.

B. P. Shewmaker, the efficient railroad agent at Moreland, has resigned for the present and the auditor has completed a check-up of his business and found it o. k. After a few months' rest and recuperation, he will doubtless be given a promotion, which he certainly deserves.

The Hustonville male quartette deserves special mention for the impressive sive rendition of selections at the funeral of Miss Alice Cabell. Many beautiful floral designs completely covered her grave. Having known her from infancy, Rev. J. Q. Montgomery spoke of her life as deserving of imitation and her reward of eternal rest.

Fondly loved by all who knew her, Many farewell tears were shed, Now her dreams of life are over And her gentle spirit fled, Gone to yonder shining shore Because her Savior loved her more.

The Christian church at Livingston has called Elder J. G. Livingston, of this county, to preach one Sunday in each month and he has accepted. We congratulate the congregation on securing the services of so good a man.

Rev. D. M. Walker, who has taken some pains to ascertain, finds that less than 50 people in this little city of over 2,000 inhabitants attend prayer meetings. He made this startling statement from his pulpit Sunday morning. This doesn't speak well for the people of the best town on the map.

Rear Admiral Robley D. Evans, retired, charged that the great railroad systems of the country are trying to kill the Panama Canal.

Auditor Frank P. James' home in Frankfort was damaged by fire and the family had a narrow escape from suffocation.

PREACHERSVILLE.

Rev. Pierce Bryant will preach at the Baptist church Saturday and Sunday.

Mrs. J. H. Rigsby has been quite sick. Mr. Henry Blankenship has been very poorly for some time.

A young horse which Henry Lunsford was riding got scared at a dog fight and ran away, after throwing the rider and dragging him for some distance. A very bad scalp wound necessitated taking several stitches. He is able to be out again.

Miss Annie Belle Smith, of near Walnut Flat, visited her aunt, Mrs. Susan Cress. Mrs. Jane Bell, who has been with her son, James M. Bell, at Paint Lick, has returned home. Mrs. W. C. Former Lincoln County Man Remembers His Home People.

HOLDEN, W. VA., Feb. 11.—As I have had the infinite pleasure of reading letters in the columns of the I. J. from persons who once boasted of Lincoln county as their place of abode, or as their native county, but who are now scattered throughout the Union and even into the Dominion of Canada, I consider it not out of harmony or inconsistent to pen a few lines from the hills of West Virginia.

Those who have not been so fortunate as to have had the opportunity of spending at least a small portion of their lives in a mountainous region can have only a diminutive and prejudiced conception of the pleasures and the fascinating associations of such a life. As the country life upon the Bluegrass plains of Kentucky possesses a fascination for the careworn people of the city, just so the mountains of West Virginia, with their life of simplicity combined with the grandeur and sublimity characteristic of them, possesses a peculiar charm for those who dwell upon the plains. Aside from these prevalent conditions and environments we are permitted to sip from the gushing springs that unadulterated aqua pura uncontaminated with conditions conducive to the propagation of typhus and other disease germs. This state of affairs, combined with the purity of the atmosphere because of the elevation, makes conditions highly conducive to the health and vigor of the physical propensities.

Holden, located in Logan county, and the present abode of the writer, boasts of the proud distinction of being the model mining town of America, if not of the world. Having a population of about 3,500, it surpasses all others in size and in up-to-date conveniences. In striking contrast to the immortal seven-hilled city of the Caesars, it occupies a series of as many small valleys and dales, following closely the winding course of Island creek. With the incoming of great numbers of miners weekly to make their abode, and with the necessity of erecting more business houses and dwellings to conform to the increased population, Holden bids fair to maintain that distinction which she now enjoys.

It was the pleasure of the writer to accompany a party of young ladies and gentlemen through one of the mines on a car drawn by a donkey. We traveled in this fashion for several miles under the mountains. From personal observation and from the compilation of data, it may safely be estimated that there is a sufficient amount of bituminous substance in the Appalachian system to last this nation for several generations. Respectfully,

W. M. PEAVYHOUSE.

The Great Texas Panhandle.

Rich land is the basis of all wealth. The safest investment and the surest money maker, is rich farming land. God is still resting on the "seventh day." He is not making any more land. The Texas Panhandle is the last of the rich, level land for settlement in this country. Fortunes will be made on the advance in price on these lands in the next few years. Home seekers will go no further when they see it. Swisher county is the garden spot and "pride of the plains." The best watered and the richest land, no clearing or grubbing, no floods or cyclones. High altitude, delightful climate. A proven wheat country. First prize awarded our wheat and oats at the National Corn Exposition at Omaha, Nebraska. For free illustrated booklet, address JAMES FRYE, Sec. TULSA COMMERCE CLUB, Tulsa, Swisher County Texas.
